Woodrow Wilson Foundation Meeting to Be Held This Evening.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York will be the principal speaker at the mass meeting arranged by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation at the Masonic Temple this evening at 8 o'clock. Rabbi Wise has been from the beginning one of the foremost advocates of the league of nations. Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of Washington and Lee University, will also speak. Dr. Smith. who has just returned from England on a mission for the state of Virginia, to present a statue of Washington to be erected at Sulgrave Manor, the ancestral home of the Washington family, will give phases of European opinion Raising Washington's Quota.

Those in charge of the foundation fund locally are anxious, they say, to raise Washington's quota of the million-dollar fund by tonight. Washington, in the first place, was assigned an abnormally large quota, $35,000, compared with the $15,000 assigned to Baltimore and the $20,000 assigned Philadelphia, bethe $20,000 assigned Philadelphia, because it was thought that admirers of Mr. Wilson in Congress and public life would contribute through the Washington committees. In practically all instances, however, according to the committees, such contributions have been made through committees in the home states and cities of the men concerned. Washington has raised approximately two-thirds of its quota, with only $13,000 still to go.

Satisfactory Progress.

Reports from national headquarters in New York indicate that satisfactory progress is being made in raising this fund for the perpetuation of the civic, ideals of Woodrow Wilson. The campaign is being pressed to an intensive finish by the two committees, that of women, headed by Mrs. Kate Trenholm Abrams, and that of men, headed by Robert W. Woolley. Representative Jeffers of Alabama men, headed by Robert W. Woolley, Representative Jeffers of Alabama addressed a midday raily at Keith's and another took place at noon today, when Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, minority leader of the House, and Senator Thomas J. Hef-ling of Alabams, works lin of Alabama spoke.

FAIR DEALING DEEMED NECESSARY TO SUCCESS

Rev. Dr. Montgomery, in Luncheon Address. Commends Work of the Real Estate Profession.

Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives, emphasized the necessity for fair dealing as an attribute to success in business in addressing members of the Washington Real Estate Board at their luncheon yesterday afternoon in the Lafayette Hotel.

Dr. Montgomery pointed out that the two great problems in life were "what to eat" and "where to stay." The real estate profession, in trying to solve for men the latter question, is doing commendable work, he said. Responsibility for making Washington a beautiful capital of the nation rested largely with the realtors, the speaker declared.

A rising vote of thanks was given Dr. Montgomery at the close of his speaker declared.

A rising vote of thanks was given Dr. Montgomery at the close of his remarks, on motion of Edmund D. Risem, presiding officer.

Richard T. Ely, professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin and director of institutional research in land economics, who is in Washington in connection with the farm conference, also addressed the board. He told of the value of the soard. He told of the value of the real estate profession. Dr. Ely was introduced by John L. Weaver.

The Rain Carrier.

Where'er I go it starts to rain be fore I've been there long; the water

Kansas drought was once renowned; I went there to be dry, and presently the state was drowned, and barns went floating by. Old water-courses that had lain for ages dry as dust became wide rivers in the rain, to every one's disgust. All bottomless was Kansas land, to husbandmen's despair; Niagaras on every hand, Nyanzas here and there. So to a country then I went where rain is seldom known, whose arid wastes, of wide extent, are drier than a bone. And to this bright and sunny clime I brought the word of doom; it's raining, raining all the time, and creeks and rivers boom. The big black clouds roll up and melt in rain and splatter me; I know just how Dad Noah felt when he was out at sea. It's wetter than the law allows, the lawns are sobbing seas. the streets are full of swimming cows and floating cribs and trees. And people weep and wonder why the c'imate thus has changed, traditions curl themselves and die, and records are deranged. I am the hoodoo, I'm the gent who brought the change accurst; wherever I may pitch my tent the cloudbursts do their worst. (Copyright.) WALT MASON

OPPOSED TO TRANSFER OF FORESTRY SERVICE

Opposition to the plan of transferring the forestry service from the Department of Agriculture to the Interior Department was voiced in a U. S. Marines Transferred From Camaguay at Cuba's Request.

Camaguay at Cuba's Bequest.

Following correspondence between the United States and Cuban governments and consideration of a report made by Gen. Enoch C. Crowder, judge advocate general of the Army, on conditions in Cuba, orders have been given for the immediate transfer of the United States marine battalion of 375 men from Camaguey, Cuba, to the United States naval station at Guantanamo, Cuba. The marines were sent to Camaguey during the world war, for the purpose, it was said, of protecting local sugar industries.

In announcing their withdrawal at the request of the Cuban authoricies, Secretary Denby also made public a report from the marine commandant in connection with the recent shooting of a Cuban by a marine at Carasuey. The report said:

"Private Donald J. Honey, U. S. M. C., Saturday, January 21, shot and killed Raman Garcia, a Cuban, on a ranch outside of Camaguey. Honey admits killing, but claims he shot in self-defense. He states that the Cuban first shot at him with a revolver, and that he then fired at the Cuban with a rifle, killing him. Honey is now confined at marine camp, Camaguey, Matter is being investigated by Marine Corps and Cuban authorities."

The cellist's finest art was revealed in "Sicilienne," by Faure, an unusual plece, with strange but appealing harmony, and in the exceedingly difficult "Tarantille" of Popper. "The Hungarian Melody," given as an encore, was also rendered with faultless technique and expression.

Miss Marsh's first number, "Lungi Dai Caro Bene," by Secchi, was one of her best, for there was a depth of feeling back of the singing which commanded the attention and sympathy of the audience for the tragic sentiment, which was voiced in the beautiful minor melody.

"La Dame de Pique." by Tschaikowsky, should be especially mentioned for the dramatic sincerity of its interpretation, as should also "Aione Upon the Housetops," by Galloway.—

"Alone Upon the Housetops," by Galloway...

The encores brought to Washington music-lovers two compositions by a local musician, Mrs. Natalie Townsend. The first, "Petite Pensee." was sung by Miss Marsh, and proved to be appealing both in theme and sentiment. while the "Berceuse." played by Miss Varady, possesses true lyrical beauty in its smooth lullaby cadences. "Ave Maria." by Schubert, was really the chef d'oeuvre of the afternoon, for it combined the art of both musicians, and gave an artistic finish to one of the most charming concerts of the season.

DENIES MINERS SUFFER.

There is no suffering from lack of work, food or clothing in the non-union mine fields at Williamson. W. Va.. Harfy Olmstead, chairman of the labor committee of the operators' association of the Williamson field, said in a statement issued yesterday. Mr. Olmstead said he "would not discountenance or oppose any relief measures for the miners who are in distress," but he emphasized that "while the public is making contributions for this purpose, the fact should not be overlooked that the United Mine Workers has forced its members into their present condition of helplessness."

"Every call for help," Mr. Olmstead declared, "is to alleviate suffering in the union district, where work has practically been suspended for months. The union has by its officers steadily and emphatically prohibited its members from adjusting wages so that the mines might be operated. It was possible for this organization to find employment for its members, had it desired to do so. As a matter of fact, the lunion organizers did find work There is no suffering from lack of

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. The claymore of "Bonnie Prince" Charlie, used before the battle of Culloden, and now owned by Mrs. Calhoun, a gift to her from her cousin, the Earl of Mar, was featured in the play.
